

Thanks for the update. Good to know that the current due date still looks likely - always give or take a week or so! I have just returned from drill team contest in Dallas - lots of fun and the Bearkadettes did great! First place in their division (super sized schools), best in category for all four team dances, first place solo, first place duet, first place officers dance, and two special judges awards - one for a perfect score of 100 from all three judges on one team routine (which Meagan was in) and one for creativity and presentation.

Keep me posted on baby news!! --Sally

"White, Cara" <CWhite@texas.usta.com> on 03/02/2001 03:41:48 PM

To: "'suew2@aol.com'" <suew2@aol.com>, "'cwhite@viviance.com'" <cwhite@viviance.com>, "'sally.beck@enron.com'" <sally.beck@enron.com>

cc:

Subject: baby report

Hi - Had my doctor's appt. this morning. Dr. Mingea went ahead and did a pelvic exam. She could feel the baby's head, so she has successfully dropped into the pelvis. Cervix has not softened any, however, so the due date still looks pretty good. Just keeping you posted! -c.

Cara White

Community Development Coordinator

USTA Texas Section

1-888-883-6388

cWhite@texas.usta.com