Rob,

I really appreciate your quick response and you calling back as soon as you had some news on my contracts today.

I was taking an executive course all week at Wharton and I have to admit I was not fully aware until reading the WSJ today of the full dimensions of what Enron is going through.

I hope everything is well with you and I will give you a call on Monday to catch up on everything.

All the best,

Diomedes.

D -

Thanks for the note. With all due respect, I don't think things have ever been like this at Enron. In any event, the company owes you a response and I'll do my best to find out what's going on.

Thanks.

Rob,

Thanks. I am copying Jim on the entire exchange.

I realize things are hectic at Enron but they have been for some time now and my payments can no longer be delayed. I think no one wants to assume responsibility for this and that's why I am writing to you and Jim because the delay is really reaching break point from my standpoint.

These are contractually agreed upon payments and they are not days or weeks late but MANY MONTHS late. I really need to receive the payments in a matter of days.

All the best and look forward to hearing from you.

Diomedes.

Dio -

I think Jim's email address is jim.derrick@enron.com. I haven't heard back from Mary Joyce on any of this. In fairness to her, things are a little hectic over here right now. Thanks.

Rob

Rob,

I've not been able to follow this to Jim ?I must be misspelling his name. Can you please do so and also send me his email address?

Thanks,

Diomedes.

Jim and Rob,

I hope you are both doing well. I realize that you must both be extremely busy with other more important issues but I find myself in a position that I HAVE to raise the issue described in the email below to your direct attention. The email is self explanatory but the bottom line is that not only has Enron failed to make payments that are due to me and to one of my companies for MONTHS now but the company is not even responding to my requests for information.

I would highly appreciate it if you advised me on the best way to handle this, i.e WHO do I need to talk to who has the decision authority to make the payments and give me answers. I stress once more that the unjustified delays by Enron in making these payments is already causing me serious problems and potential losses.

I look forward to your response.

Thanks and hope to see you soon.

Diomedes.

Mary Joyce,

I hope all is well with you.

I am contacting you regarding a number of late payments by Enron which have now become urgent from my standpoint. These payments refer to contractual obligations between ECI (one of my affiliate companies) and Enron and to the Employment Contract between Enron and myself. The payments have been invoiced and they are months late now.

After questioning John Novak about the status of these payments (after leaving Enron I was told by Rob Walls to send all invoices related to the ECI and to my agreement with Enron to John Novak in Enron South America) I received a voice mail from Pam Buttler, who I believe works with you, informing me that I would have to wait until early November, maybe even until late November as the "changes in management at Enron

require that all contracts be reviewed by the Compensation Committee which would convene in early or late November".

As soon as I received this message last Wednesday I left a message with Pam and also a voice mail with you and I subsequently left two messages with your assistant asking you to contact me urgently regarding this very serious matter but as I have not heard from you I am writing this
email to make sure that my position is clear.

These payments are due by Enron based on existing contracts and I see no reason why I have to wait for a review by an internal Compensation Committee. These payments are already significantly late and I have
extremely patient with continuous delays in payments due to me by Enron up to now. Moreover I have repeatedly let Enron know that I am in the process of closing a transaction which depends on receiving these payments, otherwise I would incur costs by unwinding other positions that I have. I need these payments to be made no later than Wednesday,
October 24.

Please inform me of Enron's intents so that I can take all the appropriate steps to enforce my contractual rights.

I look forward to hearing from you,

Regards,

Diomedes Christodoulou.
