

"This may be the fastest any industry of our size has ever decelerated, which has required us to make difficult business decisions at an unprecedented speed," said John Chamber, Cisco's chief executive. (THE WALL STREET JOURNAL)

Hi Kenneth,

I know that you are busy and I appreciate your time. If you think that I need to speak with another person at Enron Corp., please let me know how I should contact them.

Today's market is tough and companies are constantly looking for ways to improve their bottom line. As a result, many companies are taking advantage of a global IT outsourcing model. Outsourcing allows companies to free up internal resources, cut development and IT costs by over 50%, and keep up with leading technologies.

Speed, flexibility, and round-the-clock productivity are the hallmarks of Izhuta Software Development Outsourcing Services. Our fast and flexible on/off site, offshore 24x7 delivery model lends itself to a full spectrum of outsourcing services - from applications maintenance, development, and modernization to full technology outsourcing, including data center operations.

Please visit <http://www.izhuta.com/home/Save75percent.asp> for more information on our cost effective services.

We can offer Enron Corp. Our Certified Microsoft and Sun/Java professionals are available at $18/hr to work on your projects.

We are located closer to you. Please let me know when you can spare 15 minutes of your valuable time to have a chance to meet with you and help you in scoping of a project which can increase your productivity multifold.

Regards

Hema Malini
