

Please note the following organizational changes in Enron Corp and Enron North America.

Wanda Curry is joining the corporate accounting team working with Rick Causey on special projects including certain retail and broadband accounting initiatives. We thank Wanda for her significant contributions to ENA in both the planning and reporting function, as well as transaction support activities. She played a key role in making 1999 a successful year at ENA.

Wes Colwell will join ENA to lead both the planning and reporting and the transaction support accounting functions. Wes joined Enron in 1999 and made key contributions setting up a company-wide accounting transaction support team which assists each of Enron's business units on critical issues and deals.

Rodney Faldyn rejoins Enron from Azurix to continue to build the corporate accounting transaction support team. Rodney will continue the effort to grow this team and take on the management of key accounting matters that impact Enron.

These changes will be effective immediately with a transition period during March. Please join us in congratulating Wanda, Wes and Rodney on their new roles.
