

i know that power will open at 6:30. will the gas markets be open then? we figured that we might go with 7 so that both were open.

-----Original Message-----

From: Kitchen, Louise

Sent: Tue 9/11/2001 7:36 PM

To: Kean, Steven J.; Denne, Karen; Koenig, Mark; Palmer, Mark A. (PR); Palmer, Mark A. (PR); Lavorato, John

Cc: Whalley, Greg; Derrick Jr., James

Subject: RE:

Lavo said 6:30am? We will have 7:00am on the home page - let me know (or Jay Webb if it wants changing.)

-----Original Message-----

From: Kean, Steven J.

Sent: Tuesday, September 11, 2001 7:27 PM

To: Kean, Steven J.; Denne, Karen; Koenig, Mark; Palmer, Mark A. (PR); Palmer, Mark A. (PR); Lavorato, John; Kitchen, Louise

Cc: Whalley, Greg; Derrick Jr., James

Subject: RE:

First quote from Greg should read: "We see no reason for gas and power markets to become unstable in the aftermath of yesterday's tragedies" . . .

-----Original Message-----

From: Kean, Steven J.

Sent: Tue 9/11/2001 7:19 PM

To: Denne, Karen; Koenig, Mark; Palmer, Mark A. (PR); Palmer, Mark A. (PR); Kean, Steven J.

Cc: Whalley, Greg; Derrick Jr., James

Subject:

See draft release for first thing in the am.

Enron Appeals for Calm in US Natural Gas and Power Markets

Enron appealed today for calm in US natural gas and power markets. Enron will be available to buy and sell natural gas and power both over the phone and through its online platform Enrononline.

"We see no reason for gas and power markets to panic in the aftermath of yesterday's tragedies," said Greg Whalley, President and Chief Operating Officer. "These are domestic commodities and the physical infrastructure is secure and operating."

Enrononline will be open for gas and power transactions from 7:00 am to 12:00 noon, CDT to enable market participants to make purchases and sales and adjust their positions as necessary.

[boilerplate]