

Mark - Please confirm the accuracy (see Christi's note about traders being able to see who is placing the order in certain instances). Thanks.

Lisa

----- Forwarded by Lisa Yoho/NA/Enron on 04/19/2001 12:42 PM -----

Christi L Nicolay@ECT
04/18/2001 03:13 PM

To: Sarah Novosel/Corp/Enron@ENRON
cc: Lisa Yoho/NA/Enron@Enron, cpmccart@llgm.com, sbehrend@llgm.com
Subject: Re: Suggestions--EnronOnline--Attachment attached

Sorry, here is my redline attachment.

Christi L Nicolay

04/18/2001 03:12 PM

To: Sarah Novosel/Corp/Enron@ENRON
cc: Lisa Yoho/NA/Enron@Enron, cpmccart@llgm.com, sbehrend@llgm.com

Subject: Re: Suggestions--EnronOnline

CONFIDENTIAL ATTORNEY CLIENT PRIVILEGED

I have made several redlined changes to the last paragraph before No. 3 dealing with the size of Enron online. SAM--can you review that section to see if you think the language used would tend to make FERC consider regulating Enron Online?

Also, re: language in the 2nd para. of No. 2. The traders said that third parties can post "limit orders" to limit the price they are willing to pay EPMI. The traders said that they can see who is placing the limit order and can move the EPMI price if EPMI wants to transact at the limit order. The next trade may then be at the higher, original posted price. I have not viewed this, but asked the traders that sit by me, so Lisa, you may know more about this.

From: Sarah Novosel@ENRON on 04/18/2001 09:23 AM To: Christi L Nicolay/HOU/ECT@ECT
cc:

Subject: Re: EnronOnline

Here's the latest transmittal letter for the EnronOnline filing.

----- Forwarded by Sarah Novosel/Corp/Enron on 04/18/2001 10:23 AM -----

Sarah Novosel
04/17/2001 05:36 PM

To: "Matthew Estes" <MESTES@skadden.com>
cc: CPMCCART@LLGM.COM, Jay_Dudley@pgn.com, sbehrend@llgm.com
Subject: Re: EnronOnline

Everyone:

Attached is a revised redlined version of the EnronOnline filing, and we now have signoff from EnronOnline, so we should be ready to file. I suggest a few coordination efforts before we submit the filing:

First, EPMI is making the same filing amending its tariff and code of conduct, so we should submit the filings on the same day.

Second, it has been suggested that we call someone at FERC (perhaps Kevin Madden) before we make the filing. We made a similar call to Kevin before we starting using EnronOnline for pipeline capacity, and he seemed to appreciate it. Also, by calling ahead of time, we can answer any questions FERC may have about the filing. I suggest that we (Enron) make the filing since we've had contact with FERC in the past about EnronOnline.

We're preparing the EPMI filing now, but it should be ready to go tomorrow, so hopefully we can make the call and file tomorrow if this works for everyone else's schedule.

Sarah